1. & 2. Source: Platinum for PAF returns and Factset Research Systems for MSCI returns. Investment returns are calculated using PAF's NAV unit price (i.e. exclude a buy/sell spread), and represent the combined income and capital returns in the specified period. All returns are pre-tax, net of fees and costs and assume the reinvestment of distributions. The returns are calculated relative to the MSCI All Country Asia ex-Japan Net Index in A$. The investment returns depicted in the graph are cumulative on A$20,000 invested in PAF since inception (04 March 2003). Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future returns. Platinum does not invest by reference to the weightings of the index. The index is provided as a reference only.

3. The "Long %" is PAF's exposure to long securities and long securities/index derivative positions, the "Short %" is PAF's exposure to short securities and short securities/index derivative positions and the "Net %" is the difference between the "Long %" and the "Short %", each as a percentage of the market value of PAF's portfolio. The "Currency %" is the effective currency exposure of PAF's portfolio as a percentage of the market value of its portfolio, taking into account long and short securities, cash, forwards and long and short securities/index derivative positions. For the "Industry breakdown", index positions (whether through ETFs or derivatives) are only included under the relevant sector if they are sector specific, otherwise they are included under "Other".

3. and 4. Country classifications for securities reflect Bloomberg's "country of risk" designations, and currency classifications for securities reflect the relevant local currencies of our country classifications.

4. The "Top ten positions" show PAF's top ten long securities positions as a percentage of the market value of PAF's portfolio (including long securities and long securities derivative positions).

MARKET UPDATE AND COMMENTARY

This commentary relates to the underlying fund, the Platinum Asia Fund.

- The Fund returned -1.1% in April, with financials contributing the most to performance.
- April was mixed, as investors remained cautious about an uneven Chinese recovery and a global economic slowdown.
- We are focused on finding businesses that have strong, long-term growth prospects and trade at attractive valuations.

Market Commentary

Mixed reactions to Chinese economic data

China's economy expanded more than expected in the March quarter, underpinned by strong growth in exports and a recovery in retail sales and property prices (source: Bloomberg). Despite the strong economic growth print, Chinese equities were sold off as investors doubted the sustainability of the rebound, and the National Bureau of Statistics of China admitted the foundation for economic recovery was "not solid yet". The bears pointed to the elevated unemployment number, particularly youth unemployment rising to a near-record high, however, this was partially explained by people returning to cities to search for jobs after the Lunar New Year holiday (source: The South China Morning Post).

We continue to believe that China is a much-unloved stock market and remains in a different part of its economic cycle from other economies in the West. The government is taking clear steps to stimulate the economy, particularly the property sector. However, no economic recovery is linear; there will be some sectors that continue to rebound while other sectors lag. Chinese consumption and travel continue to rebound, with Bloomberg reporting that millions of Chinese travellers thronged major cities and tourist hotspots over the Labor Day break, the first normal holiday period since COVID restrictions were lifted. Meanwhile, the production side of the economy is lagging, as seen in the latest purchasing managers' index (PMI) figures. We remain confident in the Chinese businesses we hold; our largest sector exposure is consumer discretionary.

Trade tensions ease

Geopolitical risk is always a factor to consider when investing in a country like China. Our base case is that trade wars and sanctions have a higher probability of occurring than military conflict, however, trade tensions appear to be easing. Australia announced it would suspend a complaint against China with the World Trade Organisation after Beijing agreed to review steep tariffs on Australian barley (source: Bloomberg).

Elsewhere in Asia

April saw a flood of economic forecasts from the International Monetary Fund, the World Bank, and the Asian Development Bank. The latter forecasts that South Asia will be the standout region this year, growing by 5.5% followed by 6.1% next year, mainly due to India's strength. Platinum has a contrarian investing style, looking for those stocks that are unloved or overlooked by the market because there has been an overreaction to a temporary setback or an underappreciation of a significant change underway. The tailwinds for the Indian economy are well known, and while we like the story, we can find few stocks that are unloved or overlooked by the market and have compelling valuations. The Indian stock market is the most expensive in the G20 at 19x 1-year forward P/E, with lower expected earnings growth than China, which is only trading on 9.6x 1-year forward P/E (source: FactSet).

Performance Analysis*

The Fund returned -1.1% for the month. Top contributors to the Fund's performance were Chinese insurance company Ping An Insurance, Indian low-cost carrier InterGlobe Aviation and Chinese white goods company Midea. Detractors included Chinese technology companies Alibaba, JD.com and Tencent.

Valuation

The portfolio's aggregate earnings yield is roughly in line with the market (see table below). We continue to focus on finding businesses that have better long-term growth prospects than the opportunity set but are at attractive valuations.

Metric	Platinum Asia Fund	MSCI AC Asia Ex Japan Index (A$)
NTM Earnings Yield	8.0% (Price-to-Earnings ratio of 12.5x)	7.9% (Price-to-Earnings ratio of 12.6x)
NTM Dividend Yield	2.7%	3.1%
NTM Enterprise Value-to-Sales	1.5x	1.1x
LTM Price-to-Book Ratio	1.5x	1.5x

The valuations in the table have been calculated by Platinum and for the Fund refer to the long portion of the portfolio, exclude negative net earnings and use FactSet consensus earnings. As at 30 April 2023. NTM = next twelve months. LTM = last twelve months.
