1. & 2. Source: Platinum for PAF returns and Factset Research Systems for MSCI returns. Investment returns are calculated using PAF's NAV unit price (i.e. exclude a buy/sell spread), and represent the combined income and capital returns in the specified period. All returns are pre-tax, net of fees and costs and assume the reinvestment of distributions. The returns are calculated relative to the MSCI All Country Asia ex-Japan Net Index in A$. The investment returns depicted in the graph are cumulative on A$20,000 invested in PAF since inception (04 March 2003). Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future returns. Platinum does not invest by reference to the weightings of the index. The index is provided as a reference only.

3. The "Long %" is PAF's exposure to long securities and long securities/index derivative positions, the "Short %" is PAF's exposure to short securities and short securities/index derivative positions and the "Net %" is the difference between the "Long %" and the "Short %", each as a percentage of the market value of PAF's portfolio. The "Currency %" is the effective currency exposure of PAF's portfolio as a percentage of the market value of its portfolio, taking into account long and short securities, cash, forwards and long and short securities/index derivative positions. For the "Industry breakdown", index positions (whether through ETFs or derivatives) are only included under the relevant sector if they are sector specific, otherwise they are included under "Other".

3. and 4. Country classifications for securities reflect Bloomberg's "country of risk" designations, and currency classifications for securities reflect the relevant local currencies of our country classifications.

4. The "Top ten positions" show PAF's top ten long securities positions as a percentage of the market value of PAF's portfolio (including long securities and long securities derivative positions).

MARKET UPDATE AND COMMENTARY

This commentary relates to the underlying fund, the Platinum Asia Fund.

- The Fund returned -2.3% in October. Over the year to 31 October 2023 the Fund is up 18.4%.
- Consumer staples and industrials were the largest positive contributors to performance over the past month.

Market Commentary

Asian equity markets fell for the third month in a row in October with that fall driven by a range of forces: bond market volatility, geopolitical tensions in the Middle East and weakening sentiment around emerging markets as result of the US dollar's rise against regional currencies.

Beijing announced several measures to support equity markets. These included a sovereign wealth fund buying program aimed at domestic ETFs. Beijing also increased its stake in the big four state-owned banks and eased the limits on foreign stakes in joint ventures. Authorities also approved additional sovereign bond issuance to help pay for regional flood damage.

China's economic data was mixed with activity data from September reporting an uptick but the October PMI (Purchasing Managers Index) indicating a slowdown. While a stronger economic backdrop is helpful for equity returns, given our concentrated, high-conviction portfolio, we only hold stocks we think will offer strong returns over the medium term at reasonable prices. We're hopeful that we're seeing the first signs of China's property stimulus taking effect. The pace of the decline in new home sales slowed in October and the China Index Academy showed average new home prices in 100 cities rose 0.07% month on month in October. Our contrarian investment approach led us to invest in the Chinese property market as it was selling off. While the negative headlines have continued we only invest in companies we believe are well run, have strong balance sheets and should come out of this recession stronger.

In an interesting development, the in-favour Indian market experienced a surge in outflows in October driven by weaker than expected earnings by IT companies, downbeat commentary from some Indian banks and rising oil prices (Source: FT 31 October 2023). India imports more than 80% of its oil, making it vulnerable to crude prices which have climbed ~5% since Hamas' attack on Israel. Given their high starting valuations, the Fund has had limited exposure to Indian equities.

Performance Analysis*

The Fund returned -2.3% for the month. Top contributors to monthly performance included Chinese diesel engine manufacturer Weichai Power, India's largest low-cost airline InterGlobe Aviation and a short position in a South Korean materials company. Detractors included Vietnamese investment company Vietnam Enterprise Investments, Vietnam retailer Mobile World Investment Corporation and Chinese online retailer JD.com.

Valuation

Relative to the market, the Fund's earnings yield remain attractive – up approximately 12% - and with a Price-to-Book ratio at an 8% discount (see table below). Platinum's contrarian investment process means we are focused on finding businesses that have better long-term growth prospects but are oversold or out of favour due to temporary setbacks and therefore have attractive valuations.

Metric	Platinum Asia Fund	MSCI AC Asia ex-Japan Net Index (A$)
NTM Earnings Yield	9.6% (Price-to-Earnings ratio of 10.4x)	8.6% (Price-to-Earnings ratio of 11.6x)
NTM Dividend Yield	3.2%	3.4%
NTM Enterprise Value-to-Sales	1.3x	1.3x
LTM Price-to-Book Ratio	1.2x	1.3x

The valuations in the table have been calculated by Platinum and for the Fund refer to the long portion of the portfolio, exclude negative net earnings and use FactSet consensus earnings. MSCI data is sourced from Rimes, FactSet and Platinum. As at 31 October 2023. NTM = next twelve months. LTM = last twelve months.
